introduction

Conceived and founded by a trio of hospitality professionals with a belief that high-quality crystal glassware should not only be beautiful, but also practical and accessible. Kes-sho glassware embodies this ethos, offering a range of hand-crafted designs that are as tactile as they are visually stimulating, conceptualised and executed with the unique insight that a combined half-century of industry experience affords.

Glassware is an integral part of the culinary and bar experiences. Hand-crafted crystal glassware offers unrivaled delicacy, with a clarity and lightness that cannot be matched by glass. Whether at a high-end restaurant, a neighbourhood cocktail bar, a humble coffee shop, or entertaining friends at home, how we engage with service-ware has a major impact on the sensory moment - sight, touch, taste, smell and, even the sound of glasses clinking while raising a toast.

Our process from inspiration to finished product is driven by two core values - an understanding of function, and a desire for beauty - and the delicate balance between them. Once the design stage is completed, we work with our production team to bring the vision to life, combining elegant design with durability across the Kes-sho glassware range.
