NATURAL

RUBBER

The signature recycled leather of LIND DNA is made from high-quality surplus leather from the furniture and fashion industry. The leftover core leather is finely ground and fused with natural rubber—a composition of 80% granulated leather and 20% natural rubber. This natural blend not only gives new life to discarded materials but also makes the leather stronger, more durable, and more resistant than in its original form.

A natural material.

Core Leather

Leftover pieces of core leather from furniture and shoe production are collected to be transformed into our recycled leather.

Granulate

The core leather is granulated into tiny pieces.

Natural Rubber

The granulate is mixed with natural rubber from rubber trees in a ratio of 80% leftover core leather to 20% natural rubber.

Water-Based Colours

We create natural water-based colours to dye our recycled leather in a wide range of hues.

OEKO-TEX® Certified

Our signature OEKO-TEX® certified recycled leather is now crafted and ready for production.

Made In Denmark

All products of recycled leather are designed and crafted in Aarhus, Denmark.

Table mats
as the calm canvas for everyday life.

In a world of noise, a table mat becomes more than a surface. It frames the moment, grounds the table, and brings quiet order to the everyday.
